ABOUT IMT CDL

Premium Open and Distance Learning (ODL) Institute of India

Today education is not a static regimented process confined to the formative years of childhood or adolescence, but it is a dynamic and a continuous on-going process that extends throughout professional careers. In this ever-changing world, the Distance Education offers multi-pronged benefits of flexibility, professional upskilling and career advancement to the students.

IMT Centre for Distance Learning has been contributing to this educational revolution for over three decades. It has been creating all round leaders in management and entrepreneurship by helping its students acquire the necessary skills in management. With an endeavour to reach out to the graduates and working professionals across the globe, IMT CDL offers premium distance education programmes that have been benchmarked against the very best in this space. Consonant with our mission of encouraging sustained professional enrichment in an academic environment, these programmes provide professional education in a flexible package. Adding synergy to these programmes are the specially prepared Self Learning Material (SLM), interactive contact sessions by expert faculty and carefully crafted recorded video lectures.

FROM THE DESK OF DIRECTOR

Millions of professionals are trying to be the 'One in a Million'. A desire to achieve career growth and to stand out leads many career-focused individuals to invest in acquiring premium management qualification. But the scarcity of time and rigors of work pressure make it tough for many professionals to realize their dream of acquiring quality skills in management. In today's super-connected and hyper busy world, acquiring skills can be easier as well as challenging. Easier on account of plethora of options available at one's disposal but challenging on account of paucity of proven & well-rounded programmes at hand.

Our goal is to provide to our students superior accessibility to industry ready programmes that are well designed, learner centric, affordable, efficient and flexible to access. Being one of the pioneers in the country in the space of distance learning management programmes, we strive to provide access to our students on a variety of management programs which focus on diverse professional needs of the 21st century. We have the advantage of an early mover in the e-learning space. Our learning management systems are one of the best in the industry right now. By allowing our students to learn what they want and when they want it, we strive to create an e-learning ecosystem which keeps them engaged and motivated.

Moreover, we are continuously upgrading our systems, rolling out improvements in our design and deliveries that make studying online, more interesting and rewarding. Because we believe that every benefit – big or small – for the student is a benefit for the institution and society at large. We have over three decades of expertise in conducting management education programmes in distance mode with our students spread across the globe with a 35,000 plus alumni base as on date. Our goal at IMT CDL is to bring to you conducive learning environment irrespective of where you are.

In our virtual campus, you will not only meet other learners, but will also have direct access to our faculty, industry experts and a vast network of our alumni spread across the globe. We assure you that your dreams would be a lot closer than you think at IMT- Centre for Distance Learning (IMT CDL), Ghaziabad.

Prof. S. R. Musanna

Director | IMT CDL

FROM THE DESK OF THE DEAN

Welcome to Quality Management Education Experience at IMT Centre for Distance Learning, Ghaziabad. These are unnerving times for higher education in India. Academic institutions are struggling with cut throat competition internally and externally. Employers are finding little value in the degrees and certificates of students. Evolution and Revolution in technology is much faster now. The fact remains India is facing huge unmet demand for higher education and insufficient seats at Institutes of higher learning. Research findings suggest that students pursuing higher education shall double by 2025 which will further constrain our capacity to reach the objective - "no one is left behind". Distance Learning alone can help us overcome it. There is a public backlash against rising tuition and student debt which cannot be overcome by establishing conventional educational institutions but by distance learning systems.

We at IMT CDL believe in the philosophy "whom do we serve" and how well we can reach out to those who can't afford expensive education. IMT CDL provides the best non-traditional experience in management and business education having been recognised, as a world class Indian institute. The time pressure and life's demand make it harder for a working professional to develop managerial skills through conventional institutions. As the work place becomes increasingly challenging and competitive in the 21st century, the right management education and qualification has become a crucial success factor for working professionals. IMT Centre for Distance Learning (IMT CDL) is the most apt answer to meet the management education requirements of working professionals. The state-of-the-art infrastructure at IMT CDL enables the learners to experience world class management education with ease and flexibility and without the need to remain away from work. The vast digital repository of high quality management lectures by our distinguished faculty, proctored examinations, assignments, a large digital library and an advanced learning platform ensure an enriching and effective learning process.

Also, live online sessions for all the courses available to all learners is a great facility to successfully complete and acquire a premium management qualification from IMT CDL. It is also heartening to note that IMT CDL has been ranked #1 in various recent surveys on distance education in the country.

It is an opportunity to join several thousand alumni who reposed their confidence and rose to greater heights on the ladder of their professional career. I invite you and assure you of achieving your learning goals. Our Journey for over three decades is a testimony that we have kept our promises all through.
